A hippo's diet

includes short grasses and occasionally fruits, water-plants, leaves and bark.

Hippos spend the day in the water relaxing...

...and the night on land searching for food.

Hippos can walk up to 6 mi (10 k) while foraging for food, consuming up to 100 lbs (45 kg) of food each night.

Their ears, eyes and nostrils are set near the top of their head so they can still hear, see and breathe while in the water.
